The kitchen features solid timber bench-tops, an island bench, a gas cooktop and loads of storage including a large pantry. The lounge room has a slow combustion heater and the whole house has high timber ceilings and bamboo flooring.

An extra wide hallway leads to three bedrooms, all with built-in-robos. The main bedroom has an en-suite and there is a large main bathroom. But wait there's more ... an extended roofline is already in place to allow for future extension that could turn this three bedroom home into a five bedroom home.
