A BEAUTIFUL OPPORTUNITY

Every once in a while, we come across a building that makes you feel special as you wander through... this is one of those 'once in a while' buildings with a holy history.

Surrounded by mature trees and neatly mowed grounds, this building is quite unassuming on the outside.

Step up the front stairs, into a covered porch with enough room for a table and chairs, and through the double doors into the congregation section of the church.

Pause for a moment and take this all in ... this is a generously sized room with timber floors, high Cove ceilings lined with VJ paneling and matching VJ walls, surrounding the incredible feature stain glass windows on either side. The raised altar at the rear of this room has good light, a timber railing and fret work.

There is a small enclosed room to the left of the altar with a rear door, and another large room to the right hand side previously used for functions, with a small kitchenette and two separate toilets.

This room has ample light with numerous casement windows and doors looking out on three sides, pine lined walls and ceilings and feature timber beams. The property is 1,348m2 and has a water tank and septic system.

The building was formally St Lukes Kin Kin Anglican Church. It is in the Noosa Council area and zoned as Community Facility (Primary land use - Religious).

Please note - The vendor is working with Council to change the permitted use to allow the property to be repurposed.
